

The Boundary Commission Review

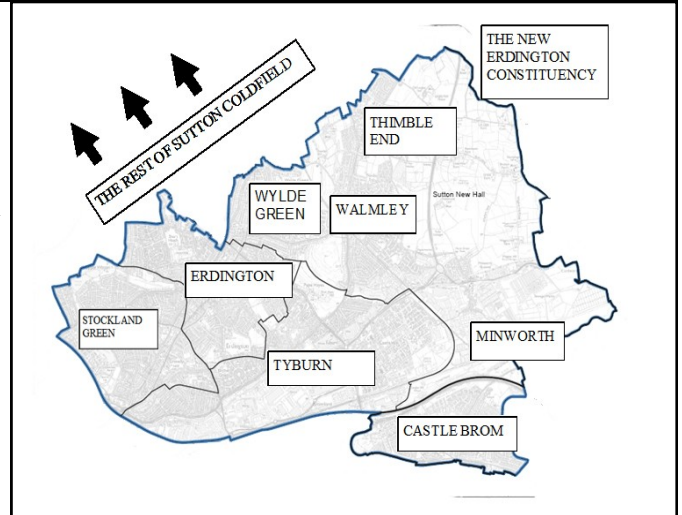

The last chance to have your say!

www.newhallinsutton.wordpress.com

Spring 2012

The Boundary Commission for England proposes to move New Hall Ward (Wylde Green, Walmley, Thimble End, and Minworth) into Erdington constituency and replace it with Kingstanding. They feel the road network in New Hall suggests closer links to Erdington than Sutton. Also they feel there is no strong tie between New Hall and the rest of Sutton because they are separated by open space. Between 6th March to 3rd April you have the last chance to have your say.

How can you have your say?

The Boundary Commission have asked for your comments on representations made last Autumn. Your MP, councillors, community groups, and political parties all had their say. These can be found at Walmley Library and online at the Boundary Commission web site. Use this link to get to the Boundary Commission web site

Search for the representation using the Unique Reference Number (URN) . Enter the URN and click 'search'. Click 'View' to view the representation and click 'Comment Now' to make your comment.
